

ABSTRACT

The Relationship of Students Perception about Individual Counseling and Counseling Teachers Basic Principle about Counseling Competencies with Students Motivation to Attend Individual Counseling Services

Hamida

This research based on the data variates about students motivation to attend individual counseling services. Perception of individual counseling and counseling teachers basic principle about counseling competencies are factors that influences on students motivation to attend individual counseling services. The aims of this research was to described: (1) students perception about individual counseling, (2) students perception about counseling teachers basic principle about counseling competencies, (3) students motivation to attend individual counseling, (4) the relationship between students perception about individual counseling with the students motivation to attend individual counseling services, (5) the relationship between students perception about counseling teachers basic principle about counseling competencies with the students motivation to attend individual counseling services, and (6) the relationship between students perception about individual counseling and counseling teachers basic principle about counseling competencies with the students motivation to attend counseling services individual.

This method of this research was quantitative by used the descriptive correlational. The population of this research were 690 students of SMA Negeri 1 Sutera in grade X and XI. The sample were 253 students that chosen by Proportional Stratified Random Sampling technique. The instrument was a Likert scale model. The data analyzed had been by with descriptive statistic, simple regression, and multiple regression.

The findings of the research indicated that: (1) the average students perception about individual counseling in the good category, (2) the average students perception about counseling teachers basic principle about counseling competencies in the good category, (3) the average students motivation to attend individual counseling services at high category, (4) there was a significant relationship between students perception about individual counseling with the students motivation to attend counseling services individual, (5) there was a significant relationship between student perception counseling teachers basic principle about counseling competencies with the students motivation to attend individual counseling services, and (6) there was a significant relationship between students perception about individual counseling and counseling teachers basic principle about counseling competencies with the students motivation to attend counseling services individual. The implication of this research could be made as a need assessment to build a guidance and counseling services program in SMA Negeri 1 Sutera.